BELLE GLADE — PAHOKEE, FL.

Sandra Chamblee is Citizen of Year

BELLE GLADE—Sandra Chamblee, 37, is the Citizen of the Year last Thursday during the Chamber of Commerce Annual Awards Banquet at Elks Lodge No. 1617 in a program featuring U.S. Lawton Chiles as the featured speaker.

Mrs. Chamblee is the third woman honored with the title after Ruth Wedgworth in 1974 and the title was changed to Citizen of the Year 12 months later.

Also honored Thursday night were Alvaro Sanchez as Agri-Industrial Man of the Year and Belle Glade Patrolman Ron Shunk, along with his dog, Officer Bear, was named Police Officer of the Year.

In the citation he read, which went along with the plaque for Mrs. Chamblee, Chamber President Robert "Bubba" Mock Jr. noted that she was born in Central Florida and came to the Glades in the late forties.

Mrs. Chamblee is a charter member and first president of Xi Zeta Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. She is a member of the PEO Sisterhood and is now serving her second year as president. She is the last active charter member of the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club and has served as president. From 1974 to 1976, she was the District 10 junior director with 12 clubs under her direction. From 1976 to 1978, she served as the state Home Life Department chairman and in 1978, she was presented with a National Preventive Medicine award for the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta for her report of the work done by the Florida Juniors during the prior two years under her direction.

She helped organize the Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens and for the past two years has served as its president. She was presented a silver tray for dedicated service in 1978 at the Florida Association for Retarded Citizens Silver Jubilee convention.

She was recently honored for serving 10 years on the board of directors of the Palm Beach County unit of the American Cancer Society, serving all 10 years as the Belle Glade Crusade Chairman and has served as executive board as secretary, treasurer, vice president, public education chairman and is now president. In July of 1977, she was appointed by the governor to serve on the board of the Southwest Palm Beach County Public Hospital Board and has since been reappointed to a term that lasts until 1982. She is serving her second term as president.

Daylight Savings time ends Sunday

Don't forget to turn your clocks back an hour before going to bed, or you may find yourself at church an hour early Sunday morning. Daylight Savings Time ends at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 25, when we'll return to Eastern Standard Time.

Jones to chair Canal Hazards Committee

BELLE GLADE — Franklin Jones was chosen this morning to succeed Marvin Urwin as chairman of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee, heading up a new state of officers for the coming year.

Jones has already served four one-year terms as chairman of the committee, including during 1974 when the four-laning of SR80 was begun between South Bay and Hooker highway. Urwin has served as chairman for the past three years.

Other officers elected to the committee were Vice Chairman Pedro Gonzalez, Treasurer Rupert Mock Sr. and Secretary Helen McCormick.

Jones noted he has been particularly close to the committee because he was born on SR80 and, except for the few years he was in college, has lived on SR80 all his life. Jones said he agreed to take the position with the condition is Nachman of the nominating committee, who asked him to serve, would find a new member. Nachman recruited County Judge Don Adams, who attended his first meeting today and Jones accepted. Jones went on to say he would like to see each of the committee members recruit one more new member during the coming year because he feels that the more members of the community become involved, the more effective the committee will be.

In other action, the committee agreed to present a certificate of appreciation to County Commissioner Bill Bailey for his services in the past, particularly for his part in the removal of the Australian pines along SR80, and US88. Bailey's aide, David Goodlett asked the committee to endorse Bailey in his bid for re-election, citing a number of services Bailey has contributed over the years, but Jones said he wouldn't want to set a precedent, although he hopes Bailey wins on Nov. 4, and Judge Adams said he is presented by the Judicial Code of Ethics from belonging to any committee or group that endorses political candidates. Heard a report by Goodlett that he had spoken to the county engineer and had been informed a resurfacing project on five miles east of Canal Point on US88 is scheduled to be included on a bid list in December and the bid is expected to be let in January. The project calls for milling the highway and overlaying it with asphalt.

Marina rate hikes deferred a month

BELLE GLADE — The city commission agreed Monday night during a special meeting to roll back rate increases at the municipal marina until Nov. 15, following a protest of the increases by a number of tenants living here.

The rollback came with a vote on a motion by Commissioner Charles Goodlett and a suggestion by Mayor Tom Altman, who said the rate increases were predicated on the completion of a new camping area to the west of the existing camp ground.

The rates were increased from $4.50 a day to $7.50 a day on lots where water, electricity and sewer is being provided and to $7 a day where only electricity and water is available. Campsites in the existing area don't offer sewer connections.

The new area was supposed to have been completed by Oct. 1 but that date has been pushed back by the South Florida Water Management District, in charge of construction, to Oct. 15. Nov. 1 and now Nov. 15, according to a report by Public Works Director Ron Sigmon.

Marina tenant J. W. Conklin, speaking for a group of other campers who showed up for the special meeting, said the campers don't mind modest increases in rates on a regular basis but they felt the increases this year were too much as long as the new area isn't open.

Conklin also expressed some doubt about the number of tenants who would be moving to the new area within it becomes available, citing the fact only the main road in the area is scheduled to be paved and, without rock or paving, the individual driveways could become impassable during wet weather.

Mayor Altman expressed surprise that only the main road will be paved. He said original plans called for planning all five streets and said that with other changes being made by the WMD, "This isn't even going to be a shell of what was promised. We gave away city property in good faith that the District would do what it said it would do and the District hasn't acted in very good faith."

Sigmon said he understood the reason given for the changes is that the WMD hasn't had the funds expected to do the job originally promised.

When Goodlett offered the motion to let the rate increases until Nov. 15, Altman and Conklin asked him if he would consider changing it to the time the new area is available or would consider an extension should the open-

Call the city if you weren't counted

BELLE GLADE — City residents who weren't counted in the 1980 census have a chance to correct a low count of the city's population according to City Planner Joe Fay.

Fay said Monday he had been contacted by the Bureau of the Census and told that if enough names could be submitted by residents who don't believe they were counted during the census earlier this year, a recount would be done by the bureau in an attempt to correct the situation.

The bureau's first working figure this year for the city's population was 11,740, later raised to 13,237 after Fay protested figures in several the districts of the city but that figure is still well under the 17,670 figure used for some time by the Area Planning Board.

The city commission decided last month to go ahead with a survey, to be performed by Adley and Associates, in an attempt to show the census bureau their count was low and Fay has continued to protest the population assigned the city by the bureau.

Fay said anyone who wishes to help correct the low count can do so by calling him at city hall (986-0100) or writing him, giving their names and addresses.

in Black Gold Jubilee

Up With People may appear

BELLE GLADE — Up With People, the musical explosion that tours the world in the form of five casts of young people, will kick off next year's Black Gold Jubilee if a couple of critical details can be nailed down.

Tracey Nichols, the Up With People southern coordinator, told the Black Gold Jubilee Committee one of the five casts of about 100 youths will be in the Miami area for 11 days at a youth fair and would be available to come to Belle Glade for a performance on April 4, 1981.

After Miss Nichols made her presentation, the committee decided to go ahead with plans to invite the group, provided the $3,500 cost will be underwritten as the committee was assured was possible last month, and to hold the performance at Glades Central High School's football field and to charge a token admission.

The performance, or two performances if the committee desires, would be to come the weekend before the major events of the Jubilee. It would be the same weekend as the softball, tennis and gold tournaments and would provide a prelude to the main body of the Jubilee.

Committee member Rupert "Bubba" Mock Jr. told the other committee members during the September meeting he was told by Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc. that the cooperative would probably underwrite at least a portion of the performance cost.

During the discussion last week, the committee decided to go ahead with the performance based on that support and to use proceeds from the ticket sales to repay the cooperative, or at least to the extent ticket sales would allow.

Miss Nichols said the $3,500 represents about half the cost for the performance, with the balance coming from fees paid by the performers when they join the group and from donations from major businesses around the nation.

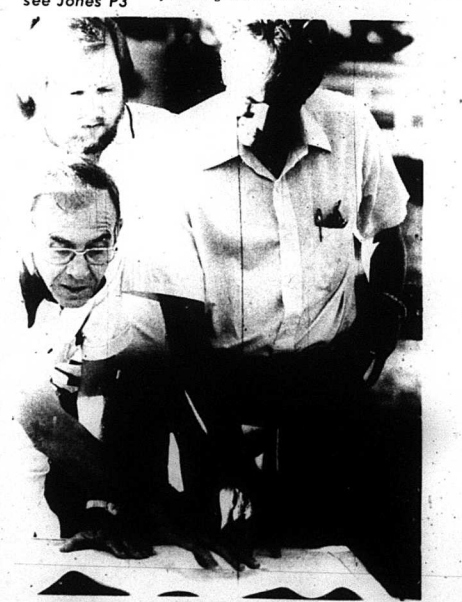

She said there would be an advance team of two members of the Up With People cast who would do a lot of the work necessary for the performance. The Black Gold Jubilee Committee, she said, would also have to help further by providing housing, transportation and office space with a telephone for the advance team and helping to find housing for the cast when it arrives the day before the performance.

In other business, the committee heard a report from Chairman Steve Weeks on the major events scheduled for the Jubilee.

He said Lynette Thompson had agreed to once again chair the parade committee with help from the Belle Glade Lions Club.

The tennis tournament will be headed up by Doug Wedgworth, the softball tournament by the Kiwanis Club, the water ski show and tournament by Sunshine Water Sports Limited, the gold tournament by city golf pro John Wright, the barbecue by the Chamber of Commerce and the Arts and Crafts show by the Belle Glade Junior Woman's Club.

The City Recreation Department will be in charge of other events such as the raft races, horseshoe tournament, pie eating contest, and Almost Anything Goes.

Looks like two more great American traditions may soon be on the endangered species list.

Halloween, the festival children and dentists eagerly await, has become so unsafe in some cities that curfews are imposed and miniature goblins, ghosts and Darth Vadors are not allowed to roam the streets without an adult. It would seem that the original significance of Halloween (All Hallows Eve) as a religious prelude to All Saints Day has been ignored or forgotten over the years.

Atlanta is a case in point.

The city has been terrorized in the past year by a child-killer who has claimed 15 lives. After finding the body of a 14-year-old last Thursday, the Atlanta city council passed a resolution urging parents to keep their children home on Halloween because of the "extreme danger."

The problem is not one that can be confined and locked within Atlanta, or any metropolitan area for that matter. It affects One Horse Town as it affects Skyscraper City.

Halloween has become a muggers paradise. What used to be the neighborhood bully stealing the gang's Three Musketeers assortment, has turned into a night of fear, for parents as well as children, where kidnappings, rape and murder are not uncommon.

Then there's always those friendly "practical jokers" that put the razor blades in the apples or the rat poison in the popcorn. Some, like the Rev. Albert Hall said in Atlanta, "It is a dark day in which we live."

The Equal Rights Amendment may be indirectly responsible for the ousting of that nostalgic event: homecoming.

Seems as if a lot of high school and college males are tired of the attention the women's libbers are getting and are expressing their attitudes by running for homecoming "queen." It all started when a high school football player was elected homecoming queen somewhere up north. It may have been a joke to the student body but to the girls on the homecoming court it meant missing out on what would have been one of their life's most treasured events. Fun is fun for awhile but when it came down to accepting the honor, the football player should have gracefully bowed out.

The case was brought closer to home last weekend when Florida State University homecoming court threatened to boycott the festivities because a student known as "Billie Dahling" was selected as homecoming princess.

Looking into the past however, FSU has a tradition of homecoming mockery. In 1972 all homecoming queen activities were cancelled after a male student was elected queen. In 1974 the homecoming queen contest was replaced with homecoming princess and chief elections. And in 1976 a woman entered the chief contest, ostensibly to protest the contest's sexism, but was defeated in the run-offs.

Billie Dahling finally agreed to a compromise after much pressure from faculty and alumni. Although he refused to resign, Billie agreed not to ride on the pink Homecoming Royal float or appear at halftime at the FSU-Renton College game.

But he would accept the headress at the Pow Wow and be acknowledged as the winner of the princess elections.

If events like this continue to spread, homecoming is destined to become, and some say already is, a farce.

Granted, college homecomings are largely popularity contests among fraternities and sororities out it is also a nostalgic event that brings alumni from across the nation to their alma mater, and ten years from now it is not likely that William Wade will be happy with the fact he is forever emblazoned in FSU annals as "Billie Dahling, 1980 Homecoming Princess."

Bad judgement

Not that it's going to cost the city all that much revenue but the city commission showed poor judgement Monday night by acceding to requests to hold off rate increases for campers at the city's campground.

The decision was made Monday night in a special session to hold up increases until Nov. 15, on the assumption the increases were predicated during budget sessions that the new campground area would be available for occupancy by Oct. 1, when the increases went into effect.

The fallacy in that argument is that even when the new area is open for occupancy, and the rates do increase, the rates will also increase correspondingly in the existing area...allowing only 50 cents a day off because sewer won't be available.

If the $2.50 increase is too much now, it'll be too much on Nov. 16, or whenever the new area opens. If it'll be reasonable then it's reasonable now.

The problem is setting a precedent that whenever a rate for a service is increased, whether it's for camping at the marina, or for sewage or for property taxes, the users or taxpayers now have a precedent to argue the commission into lowering the rates, whether they're justified or not.

This decision won't cost the city all that much but could cost dearly in the future.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:
Falmouth High School is holding its homecoming celebration this Nov. 7. Homecoming 1980 is a special occasion for Falmouth High School because this is our 50th anniversary of PHS football. Plans are underway to make it a great celebration and we hope that you, the community, will join us in making this a truly memorable festival. If your club or civic group wishes to take part in our parade or participate in any other manner, please contact Jeff Heitman, student council sponsor, at 924-2247. The best time to meet Mr. Heitman is between the hours of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Let's get together and make this a great celebration!

Faryl Nargle, President
Falmouth High School
Student Council
EDITOR'S NOTE: The homecoming parade will begin at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 7 and game festivities will get underway at Lair Field at 7:30 p.m.)

Mills of court grind slow

If the mills of the Florida judicial system took their cue from the gods' own by grinding slowly, they're doing well and possibly forgot to mention that very slow sometimes makes it impossible to grind exceedingly fine.

A case in point is the suit filed last fall by Kenneth Harris against the City of Belle Glade and Dorothy Walker after Miss Walker ousted Harris from his city commission seat.

By its very nature, that lawsuit should have been handled quickly because the final decision would possibly cause pandemonium, depending on whether the appellate court decides all the decisions taken over the past year, in which Miss Walker's vote was crucial, will be nullified.

The case, for those who have forgotten (and Lord knows, they've had enough time to forget) was filed by Harris after the Sept. 11, 1979 election, charging Miss Walker with nine violations of the state election law but Judge William C. Williams found on Dec. 18 that she was guilty of one, not being a resident of the East Borough which she was elected to represent.

As part of his ruling, Judge Williams unseated Miss Walker but on Jan. 4 granted a stay when Miss Walker filed an appeal, eliminating a special election set for Jan. 29.

Well, the appellate court got around to hearing arguments on the case on Oct. 8 (yawn) and it seemed appropriate to wait a couple of weeks before commenting.

After waiting ten months to hear arguments, and God only knows how much longer we'll have to wait for a decision, the only possible conclusion is that the judges couldn't care less about justice and, if they find against Miss Walker, could just as easily find against the city and nullify every vote she's made against on the commission.

Other than that, it may not matter what the decision is because if it takes as long to get the decision as it did for the court to hear the arguments, we'll probably be in the middle of another city election anyway.

But there's another point involved too. Since the borough system was instituted as a form of representation on the city commission at the suggestion of a court, it seems logical it should be upheld in court...and the system is desirable because it does keep all five commissioners from living on the same block as would be possible if they were all elected at-large.

Miss Walker was found by Judge Williams to not be a bona fide resident of the East Borough, which would seem to be the point of her appeal but from what we've heard, her residency was a minor point, if it was made at all, in her attorney's arguments.

If Judge Williams' finding was correct and Miss Walker wasn't and/or isn't a resident of the East Borough, then the residents of that borough haven't had proper representation on the commission for more than a year.

If she was, and/or is a bona fide resident, then it's high time everyone knew it so we can get on with the business at hand.

And if her residency isn't the point being considered by the appellate court, then what the heck is the point of writing laws anyway if they're not going to be enforced and anybody who decides he's going to run for office decides he'll flout whatever laws are on the books and do whatever it takes to win?

Justice could only have been served by a speedy appeals process and decision, as requested by the city commission back in January, so we can forget that as being the goal in this exercise in futility.

So would someone wake up one of the judges and ask what we're doing here?

Inflation threatening to win industry, reflecting the myopic vision of farming by all too many people...even the experts.)

Inflation, of course, is the fly in the farmer's buttermilk, so to speak.

Production costs soared 54 per cent during the five-year period, while prices received for products by farmers rose only 24 per cent. If it hadn't been for the rising farm production factor, many more of our farmers would have gone out of business.

For example, U.S. corn production jumped 65 per cent, wheat production 20 per cent, soybean production 86 per cent, beef production 12 per cent and pork production 47 per cent.

Price increases didn't even stay close. Prices paid for soybeans, for example, went up 19 per cent, from $4.75 a bushel to only $5.90; wheat 15 per cent, from $2.50 to only $3 and corn 4 per cent, from $2.40 to only $2.50. Prices paid to farmers for beef went up 20 per cent from 53 cents a pound to only 67 cents and pork fell 23 per cent, from 51 cents a pound to 39 cents.

The short prices paid for products, of course, have been compounded by the inflation factors, which jacked the cost of diesel fuel by 150 per cent, farm machinery by 74 per cent, dairy feeds by 28 per cent and hired farm labor by 49 per cent.

Inflation has played havoc with consumers in all walks of life, particularly in the last year or so when the overall inflation rate was set at 14.7 per cent for the 12 month period ending in April.

Energy, as we all know, went up 43.4 per cent during that year while housing, finance, taxes and insurance rose by 33.7 per cent and medical care by 11.4 per cent.

The cost of food was one of the few items to rise less than the general average of 14.7 per cent. Grocery prices climbed by only 5.9 per cent during the period.

But it's not clear how much longer agricultural productivity can go on balancing the farmer's budget and keeping the consumer among the best-fed-folks.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

Talk about finding your silver linings around any old kind of cloud that comes along, some people are even finding "positive effects" of Mount St. Helens blowing her stack.

What with more than 70 people dead or disappeared, 240 miles of woodland being obliterated, the destruction of 26 lakes and the combined deaths of 11 million fish and 1.5 million other animals, you'd think this is one silver lining that would take the world's roughest pair of spectacles to make out.

Matter of fact, it's reaching almost as far as the old sardonic joke about, "Aside from that, Mrs. Lincoln, how did you like the play?"

The monetary losses alone, if you want to forget about the loss of life, are estimated at more than a billion dollars in the Mount St. Helens area and, with more eruptions coming all the time, can only go up.

So what can be the silver lining around this kind of a thunderhead? Well, before we get around to the three ideas mentioned in the National Wildlife magazine, try this one on for size.

Washington State business leaders have been quoted as saying the area will become a tourist attraction.

The sad thing is that those business leaders are already being proven correct. The U.S. Forestry Service reported there were more than 4,000 daily visitors to the area in August...and the volcano hasn't finished popping its cork yet.

I guess it's something like those shows on tele, vision where you sit down to see if the idiot is going to misjudge his timing when he tries to jump over a sports car bearing down on him at 100 miles an hour.

Not that anyone actually wants to see the schmuck splatter himself all over the windshield of a Ferrari, but if he does make a miscalculation, we certainly don't want to miss it, do we?

And if Mount St. Helens should pop off during the month of August, and the family should just happen to be on vacation in the vicinity of the Cascades, we certainly don't want to miss that either, do we?

Aside from the ghoulish tourism bit though, believe it or not, there are some aspects I guess you could call pretty positive.

For instance, there is the fact the volcanic ash will eventually enrich the soil and some new plant species will "probably" appear. I guess the area would be richer for farming purposes some time in the future...just depends on how long you want to wait before plowing it up.

The scientists also say changes in wildlife habitat should enhance the populations of many creatures. For example, the mountain bluebird, which is attracted to snagged trees, is expected to flourish.

Then too, the scientists will have, as one of them put it, "a rare opportunity to see how the earth regenerates itself. In some places, everything must start all over again."

I'm purely glad those scientists will have a crack at seeing how the earth regenerates itself. Now, if we can see how some of those 70-odd people, the 11 million fish and 1.5 million animals regenerate themselves, we would all become enthralled with the Lazarus effect.

To be fair, though, the scientists did point out that about the same kind of damage occurred about 600 years ago to the Mount Ranier area when that mountain blew its top and by the time the first hiker explorers reached the area 200 years later, the rivers were stocked with fish and the banks were lined with big timber.

Just a question of how long it takes and how long we have to enjoy the regrowth. Sorry that there are more than 70 people who won't have seen that time or any portion of it but you know the name of that song.

Probably the best thing that may be learned is how to plan again for such blasts in the future and how to cope with 'em.

Not that anyone expects to be able to cork off a volcano but it may be possible to learn how to tell when an eruption is going to take place.

And one thing we can always remember; as powerful as the Mount St. Helens eruptions were and are, they don't even compare to some others in the past.

It was about a hundred years ago, for instance, that the entire island of Krakatoa in the Pacific Ocean blew its top and dust that glorified sunsets for three years around the world. Course Krakatoa was destroyed but that was a small price to pay for spectacular sunsets.

Then, there was the one, estimated to be four times as powerful as Krakatoa, that destroyed the island of Thera in the Aegean Sea a few centuries ago.

That one wiped out the people living on the island and reportedly sent a 400 foot high wall of water north to crash into the island of Crete, destroying the Minoan civilization and, according to conjecture by a lot of scientists, creating the legend of Atlantis. The most vivid memory mankind now has of the Minoans comes down to us in a couple of books called The Iliad and The Odyssey by a Minoan named Homer about some of the Minoans who reportedly had wrecked and plundered a civilization of their own...called Troy.

And no matter what kind of firecrackers we've developed, one thing we oughta remember is that we've never been able to wreck a whole race of people, particularly not the most powerful race of people around.

That should put the relationship between civilization and nature in perspective.

National scare

The closer we get to the Nov. 4 general election, there seems to be a growing wave of fear among the voters around the nation concerning the presidency by a race and an even greater fear in Florida concerning the U.S. Senate race.

One of the candidates might win.

Marina

ing be delayed beyond Nov. 15. Goodlett said all he is prepared to offer now is Nov. 15.

Altman promised Conklin he would bring the matter up again if it appears the new area won't be open on that date.

Conklin also asked the commission if they would allow him to connect to the sewer main already installed in the existing area and another camper asked if he would be allowed to sod the lot where he has his camper.

Altman told Conklin, after some discussion, that the WMD may not allow the connection but it would be checked into, but told the other camper he could sod his lot with the commission's thanks.

In other business, the commissioners:

- Directed the city staff to come up with some solution to a zoning problem which would allow the commission to honor a promise made to developer Roe Steele three years ago.

Steele said at that time he would install a new sewer lift station at Northwest 12th Street and Avenue 1. If the commission would allow him to connect to and build apartments on the second floor of a proposed laundromat and office building.

Steele told the commissioners he is now ready to construct the building but City Planner Joe Fay said the city's new zoning code doesn't allow apartments in property zoned for industrial use, as is the property in question.

Mayor Altman was the only commissioner present at the meeting Monday night who was on the commission at the time the agreement was made and, since Steele has long since paid for the lift station which has been in use for some time, asked the other commissioners to honor the commitment. Commissioner Dorothy Walker said she was concerned about the safety of the area for children, because of heavy traffic, and Commissioner Goodlett said he was concerned about the fact an amendment to allow apartments atop a parking house. Both commissioners, however, said they would be in favor of some arrangement to honor the earlier commitment.

Captain Jessie Womack of the Fire Department pointed out another danger of amending the existing ordinance when he said it would also allow apartments to be built on top of a chemical storage facility.

Steele said his architect is already drawing plans for the building and can't go ahead without knowing whether apartments would be allowed.

Gave Public Utilities Director Kenneth Retterer until Monday to offer an alternative to tearing down the racquetball courts in Airport Park which were recently found to be cracking and to have loose footings and walls.

Retterer, who was in charge of the construction, said he felt the courts could be repaired by a method called pressure grouting, in which concrete is forced under pressure under the floors and footings of the building. He said it could save the city thousands of dollars if he's right and would cost only days if he's wrong. He said a representative of the company which could do the job will be in the city today to inspect the building and offer a firm proposal. He said he didn't think the entire repair job would cost more than about $3,200.

The city's engineers have already estimated repairs at $25,000 and that was before they were aware the footings are sinking, a point Retterer argued Monday night.

Mayor Altman told Retterer

he had already had one chance to show what his methods of construction could do, and the building's cracks are the result. He said he would go along with the pressure grouting only if the city's engineers endorse it in a written report on Monday.

Retterer agreed with that and Acting City Manager Frank Anderson said he would ask the city's engineers to go along with the pressure grouting when the grouting company representative would make his inspection.

Jones

Transportation maintenance engineer who had been transferred out of the county for the past five months.

Authorized committee member Duncan Padgett to attempt to find between two and four acres of land for storage of asphalt to be milled off US88 in the above project, which would be used later by the DOT.

Smith told the committee there will be about 6,000 cubic yards of material to be stored but it will take more than the usual amount of land because it will have to be stored in small piles to keep it from compressing into an unusable mass.

Heard a report from Goodlett and Smith that a stoppage of work in the tree elimination project on US88 had been headed off at the county commission level. Goodlett said the insurance was scheduled to lapse Thursday and if the commissioners hadn't renewed it Tuesday, the equipment would have had to be relocated until the insurance was reinstated. He said the problem didn't come to light until Monday.

- Heard a report from Unwin that he has been attempting to get candidates for the state legislature to commit themselves to require the DOT to put together a meaningful five year program.

Unwin said he thinks he has made inroads after telling the legislators the five year program shouldn't be changed every year, that it should mean something when a project is placed on the program.

CAP on rescue mission

BELLE GLADE — Members of the Glades Senior Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol participated in a coordinated search and rescue mission for about nine hours Saturday when a Lake amphibian was reported overdue at Clewiston Airport.

The Glades squadron was alerted at 8:30 a.m. by Group Five that a mission had been declared by AFRTC at Scott Air Force Base in Belleville, Ill. when the amphibian, flown by Raymond C. Banks of Devils Springs, Ark. had taken off so Banks could demonstrate the aircraft to a potential buyer.

Banks' wife told authorities her husband, who was reported to have good flight qualifications and IFR rated, was overdue at Clewiston Airport, where he and his passenger had departed at 6:48 p.m. Friday without filing a flight plan.

The search for Banks, who also owns another fixed wing aircraft and a helicopter based at Devils Springs, was called off at 6 p.m. local time when word was received the pilot had safely landed in Mississippi.

CAP Captain Kenneth Lutz, commanding the local squadron, and Col. Doug Wooten made ramp checks in the Glades area, with negative results. As the search progressed, there were 26 volunteers in five aircraft participating in the search over the southern part of Lake Okechobee. Also notified was the Okechobee Search and Rescue unit, who initiated a search over the northern portion of the lake. Local efforts were confined to manning radio frequencies and transmitting messages from aircraft flying at 500 feet.

The longest commonly performed opera is Richard Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" which usually runs for 5 hours, 15 minutes.

ARTISTS' CONCEPTION of new auditorium, scheduled for completion in Oct. 1981. The auditorium is shown from the front view (above) and the side view (below).

PBJC Auditorium due to open next October

Glades area residents and Palm Beach Junior College students may be viewing the theatrical performances in a new auditorium by this time next year, college officials report.

Dr. Cecil Conley, Provost, and Dolly Hand, Trustee said the Instructional Cultural Center should be open by Oct. 1981, if construction remains on schedule.

"We had some delays that put us back about 30 days," Conley said, "but we think we can make up that lost time."

Hand said the auditorium will contain 500 elevated seats, projection and lighting rooms, a master control room, a lobby area where art exhibits may be displayed, offices, and a lounge area where staff and faculty meetings will be held.

The auditorium, which will cost nearly $2 million when completed, was funded primarily through a state matching funds grant which doubled the funds raised from local sources, Conley said.

"The auditorium will be for the general use of the community as well as the college. They paid for it, they ought to use it," Conley said. The present construction of the auditorium was originally not part of the college expansion and development plan, Hand said.

"At our last board meeting we made a project priority adjustment to see if we could obtain funds for a physical education complex."

An artist's conception of the complex revealed handball, tennis and volleyball courts, an archery range, a softball field, an athletic field, a clubhouse, bleachers and a parking lot. Conley said although the college has a 2-hour physical education requirement, it has been waived in the past because of the lack of facilities.

"We are also trying to start a program in sugar technology," Conley said. There is a great need for that in this area and the nearest certified program is in Louisiana," he said.

The cost of such a program could probably be kept at a minimum, Conley said, because much of the instruction would take place in area sugar mills where equipment was readily available.

"Right now we're in the process of looking for an instructor," he added.

The Phase V program also provides for six additional buildings on the Belle Glade Campus: three classroom-office buildings, a library, a gymnasium and a combination student lounge-administration building.

These additions will not be in the near future, however. Hand said there must be a definite need outlined to the state before any funding could be obtained for the school and enrollment must continue to increase. Total enrollment, including a continuing education program, now stands at approximately 1,500 students.

In May 1980, he worked as a consultant for King Ranch International, visiting and evaluating their properties in Spain, Australia, Argentina, Brazil and Venezuela. He served on the Chamber board of directors for five years.

Shunk has been a patrolman on the Belle Glade Police Department since 1975 and on the Burglary Task Force Unit since 1975. He was assigned in 1979 to work with his dog, Bear, as the department's K-9 officer. He and Bear have made 48 felony arrests and have assisted the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office and the Pahokee and South Bay Police Departments.

Bear was certified by the United States Police Canine Association on March 20.

Chief Webster said the Lake Harbor fire was the fifth fire the South Bay Department responded to that day; that the first call was at 7:30 a.m. Friday and his men didn't return to the station until 5:45 a.m. Saturday. Another home in Lake Harbor burned Monday night.

In the fire at Days Inn, reported at 7:38 p.m. Friday, Webster said about 45,000 damage was done. He said it began in a downstairs laundry room in the west building, apparently starting in wiring behind the dryers and working upward. He said the floor and ceiling of the second floor laundry room were breached and part of the second floor collapsed.

The Tel-Med program was implemented in Palm Beach County in 1979 at a cost of $22,000. It is part of a growing nationwide medical tape library system that originated in 1972 with the San Bernardino County Medical Society in California. Today there are about 190 Tel-Med installations across the country, with each system averaging 100,000 calls a year.

The tapes are reviewed periodically and updated when necessary. New tapes are added to the system if they seem up and ask for tape 1081, plebiscite to the Palm Beach Health Hints for Campers, tape 401, Personal Hygiene for a Child, tapes 98 and 99, Head Injuries and Sprains or any other type which seems appropriate.

The operator will play the tape and if they wish to hear the same tape again or another tape, call back and the operator will be happy to assist you, Frydan said.

The tapes are three to five minutes long and, according to Frydan, are written in a straightforward, easy to understand manner. Every tape is reviewed periodically

Two more fires labelled 'suspicious' Lake Harbor fire cause sought

By DEAN JONES

LAKE HARBOR — The cause of a Friday night fire that killed three children and destroyed three homes is still under investigation as of Tuesday according to South Bay Fire Chief Jim Webster.

Webster said State Fire Marshal Dave Eliason was at the scene of the fire at Mutt Thomas Quarters Saturday and the investigation is continuing. Webster said two of the houses were burned flat to the ground, however, and the cause may be undetermined for some time.

All three children, Nichol Carter, 2, Tequesta Mengui, 2, and Antennille Doyle, 4, were alone in the house centered between the other two homes which burned.

Webster said Marge Harper was identified as the mother of Nichol Carter and Antennille Doyle and the sister of Tequesta Mengui. He said Ms. Harper had left the children in the care of James Beas, a friend, while she went to church about 100 yards from the house.

Webster said Beas told him he later left the children alone while he went to a pool hall about 400 yards from the house to play pool.

The chief went on to say the first call came at 9:20 while the South Bay Fire Department was working a fire at Days Inn in South Bay. He said he was on the scene six minutes later and two of the three houses were already completely enveloped, that the radiant heat was so bad no one could get near the homes and that five power lines were also down in the road, adding to the danger.

He said he was told when he arrived that children were in the center of the three homes but there was nothing anyone could do because of the heat.

All three homes the other two belonged to Bessie Lee Besimay and Robert Lewis. The houses were old and of wood frame construction, Webster said. He said if the construction didn't cause the fire to spread quickly enough, a 100 pound LP gas tank on the west side of the Besimay home ruptured and exploded, adding fuel to the blaze.

Because the Besimay and Harper homes were already completely enveloped when the Lewis home was three quarters enveloped, Webster said his men concentrated the initial efforts on saving a fourth home, owned by a Mrs. Dennard, in the row of homes. "By that time," he said, "we'd already called the Clewiston Fire Department and the Division of Forestry and when they arrived on the scene, they deployed their lines and we started knocking down the fire in the first three houses."

He said Clewiston responded with two pumps and 12 men and the Forestry Service answered with two trucks and three men. "They were wonderful," he added.

Webster said that when the ashes had cooled sufficiently for firefighters to get close, they found the two girls (Nichol and Tequesta) in the kitchen. The boy was found in the living room, almost at the front door.

In the Monday night fire, Webster said his department responded at 11:30 p.m. to an unoccupied house owned by Howard Dukes of Belle Glade, who used the house for storage.

He said the house was adjacent to the Allied Chemical Company and when he was nearing the scene, he thought the chemical company building might be on fire.

"We drafted from the Miami Canal," he said, "and knocked it down pretty quickly. The fire destroyed the front of the building and gutted the rest of it."

Aside from the three children, Webster said the only injuries in any of the fires Friday or Monday came from smoke inhalation by two firefighters at the Friday fire at Lake Harbor and by Dave Perelli, the manager at Days Inn, who was seriously injured his job and was on his last day, breaking in his replacement, when the fire broke out. Webster said Perelli was treated at Glades General Hospital, which gutted the remainder of the building.

Nipper's Store that had been left from an earlier fire. "The fire inspector just left this morning," Webster said. "Both the fire Monday night and the one this morning are suspicious in origin."

"Whoever it is setting them," he went on, "can quit any time now. It looks like someone's trying to burn down Lake Harbor."

One of the greatest problems our farmers face is of their own making. They have done their jobs too well. They are super-producers. Super farmers. Modern farmers and ranchers have been efficient enough to cut the required farm population to just over 4 million... for every farmer there are 56 other Americans. All are consumers. Therein lies the problem. Do politicians want one vote or 56? All of us who want a healthy agricultural economy should do our part to make clear that these two groups... consumers and farmers... are not opposed. Efficiency of our producers makes possible the world's best foods at the lowest prices (as a portion of spendable income). There's only one reason that situation might change. We're looking at that situation next week.

Remedial action needed to correct fishery problems

Last week we printed, in its entirety, an "Overview of Florida's Fisheries Problems." Undoubtedly, remedial action to correct these problems is immediately necessary if we are to halt the continual plunder of our natural resources.

This economic exploitation does not benefit the general public in all situations. Often it benefits a few. In most instances a few gain materially but, win or lose, it is the general public that foots the bill in the end.

This is a pretty sad state of affairs. Unless the public, at least the thinking ones who really care about the quality of life, are prepared to take the time and trouble to inquire more closely into the situation, things are going to get worse at an accelerated rate. As the habitat nature created for animals, birds, and fish disappears, so will these creatures.

When the last body of water is placarded with signs indicating it is "unsafe for water contact activities" it is certainly going to be too late. Right now we have too many bodies of water in this condition. Unless vigorous measures are taken, to halt once and for all those activities ities that benefit but a few at the expense of all, to correct this type activity we may find ourselves in the position where we "wished we had done something." Last week we also stated that we would print in full, the resolution as drawn up by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission as a result of their findings. Here it is.

RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, Article IV, Section 9 of the Florida Constitution provides the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission with the authority to exercise the regulatory and executive powers of the State with respect to wild animal life and freshwater aquatic life; and

WHEREAS, the freshwater fishery resources are an integral part of the aqua-

recreational fishing industry of Florida has the potential of affecting a $700 million a year industry;
NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission of the State of Florida, in a meeting assembled on this 19th day of September 1980, in Palm Beach, Florida, has, after due deliberation, determined that the decline in the freshwater environment of Florida is contributing to the destruction of the freshwater fishery resource of Florida and pledges to aggressively pursue what ever actions necessary to ensure protection of Florida's fish and wildlife resources; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Members of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission of the State of Florida do hereby direct the Commission staff to bring the condition of Florida's freshwater environment to the attention of and enlist the support of the Governor of Florida, the Legislature, all appropriate branches of government, the news media, and the public for corrective action; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Members of the Commission do hereby further direct the Commission staff to pursue any and all available avenues to ensure that existing environmental laws are aggressively enforced, and that appropriate legislation effecting necessary changes in Florida's environmental statutes during the 1981 legislative session be promoted and supported so as to ensure an equal voice for fish and wildlife considerations in any matters impacting their environment.

What the foregoing means is that the Commission has empowered the Commission staff to immediately and vigorously pursue objectives necessary to reverse the present trend of water and habitat degradation.

For further, more detailed information write the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, Farris Bryant Building, Tallahassee, Fla. 32301 or call your nearest regional office (in our case 800-432-2046 at West Palm Beach). So come on Floridians! Do we support this effort or choose to ignore what may be our last opportunity to save what we have left!

life of Florida; and
WHEREAS, in recent years there has been a rapid degradation of these freshwater resources; and

WHEREAS, due to the deterioration of Florida's fresh waters, massive fish kills this past summer destroyed 16 million fish on the lower St. Johns River, and numerous other fish kills involving other freshwater bodies are occurring at an alarming rate; and

WHEREAS, many of Florida's fresh waters are now or likely in the future to be subjected to habitat destruction and fish kills; and
WHEREAS, the environmental degradation which is destroying our fish and wildlife is adversely affecting the quality of life in Florida; and

WHEREAS, the deterioration of the freshwater

Area fishing report

By Lorne Rociot
The early part of October produced some pretty stiff northeasterly winds (Northeast, if you will) making it difficult for bass fishermen, especially, to frequent their favorite haunts.

The winds finally blew themselves out and the calmer waters made for a real bass bonanza almost everywhere on the Lake.

The bass followed their usual pattern in that they were not taken on the shoreline edges but also in the pepperglass beds on the flats.

It is quite possible that with the level at less than 15 feet, bass may continue to remain on the flats. It may be a good idea to give some attention to these areas. Those who prefer to use live shiners have found them to be very productive. It is not only the numbers caught but the numbers of large bass included in the total bag. The south and east shores of the lake are producing good catches of Specks (Black Crappie) but little in the way of bluegills or shiners.

The West side of the lake, bass fishing is good to excellent, bluegills good and specks slow. To give you a rundown on what's happening in the various areas here are some from some of the camps:

Alvin Ward of A's Bait and Tackle in Moore Haven says bass are being caught at 10 to 15 foot depths. Bluegills are on the slow side unless a hatch is have been coming in. Alvin Jr. came in with a bass 15 pounds on plastic worms. Delbert Mathis and Mike Snow of Moore Haven had bass up to 6 pounds, 14 pounds and 4 1/2 pounds on plastic worms and a Clewis-ton resident had an 8 1/2 pounder on live shiners.

Bluegills are active in the Rim Canal where live worms have produced good catches. The bass have also been some "chizzzy" active in the reed growth on the lake proper and lucky is he who lands a big one. Some specks are being taken on Missouri Minnows but no bonanza as yet.

Marvin Vance of Clewis-ton Marina also confirms excellent bass fishing with some fishermen bringing in limits and some of larger proportions. The East Wall area and the pepperglass beds on the flats have been the most productive areas. Dave Moslak of Ft. Myers brought in bass to 8 pounds caught on live shiners. Shiners also did the trick for Maurice Lee of Vanceburg, Ky. who had bass to 7 1/2 pounds.

Jack and Sally Paulus of Clewis-ton had a good catch using plastic worms to bring in bass to 7 pounds, 10 pounds. Specks are being taken in the Rim Canal and deep holes on Missouri minnows and jigs. Most are being caught at 10 to 15 foot depths. Bluegills are on the slow side unless a hatch is located and then the action can be fast and furious.

Jim Chalancin of the J. Mark Camp in Belle Glade reports that bass action was very good. Lots of fish and to large sizes.

For example, Cecil Bair of Belle Glade, using live shiners came in with fish to 8 1/2 and 9 pounds. Garth Lewis also of Belle Glade and also using live shiners had bass to 9 1/2 pounds. H.L. Barber of South Bay had an 8 1/2 pound included in his catch made on plastic worms. Other good catches of bass were made by Clyde Shew of Gadsden, Ala.

His two largest weighed out at 8 pounds each and were caught on top water plugs. Bill Dowling of Boynton Beach, using live shiners, came with a catch which included a six and an eight pounder.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Adams of Ft. Lauderdale had a limit, caught on live shiners with 6 over six pounds with the largest going 7 1/2 lbs.

Many good catches of specks were made, mostly in the Rim Canal along the edges in 6 to 8' of water. Missouri minnows and jigs are your best bet. Few 'gills or 'crackers were caught.

That's the current picture. How long the fish will stay "turned on" is anybody's guess. Boiled down it means anytime you can get out on the water - get!

MEDICAL MESSAGE
from the Florida Doctors

DIVING SAFETY

Florida's approximately 1,000 miles of coastline and hundreds of springs make it a diver's paradise. Divers are regarded as a year-round paradise for divers. They can also be a death trap for the unprepared.

You should never dive alone. Have at least one companion with you, and make sure that individual is qualified and trustworthy. Learn how to perform respiration and make sure your friends know how.

Except in organized expeditions, cave diving should be avoided. Dark, new and strong undercurrents can bring about disaster quickly. Plan your dives. Know where you are going, how deep, and how long you can stay under.

Develop a system of underwater communication signals. Never dive when you are fatigued or not feeling well.

The doctors of Florida want you to know that diving makes demands on the body unlike those met above the surface. Asking your physician to evaluate your fitness for diving is a precaution that will pay dividends.

In addition to good health, a diver should be a better than average swimmer.

The following is ruled out for those with perforated eardrums. Those with heart problems or respiratory disease should not attempt it.

As to equipment, make sure your weight belts or scuba harness have quick release buckles. You may need to reach the surface quickly. Always watch your depth. Pressure mount quickly as you descend. Don't hold your breath while ascending; air will expand inside your lungs and should be allowed to bubble out as you are coming up.

This is a medical message from the Florida Medical Association in behalf of the doctors of Florida and as a public service feature of this newspaper.

Let's go fishing. We will just hop in that super fish chaser (just out of the shop) and blast out in the big lake to enjoy a fantastic day of sunburn and backaches.

But, "Oh, how sweet it is." The fish are turned on and the wife is turned off, so let's go. That was the idea it was this past week on old Lake Okechobee.

If you aren't a diehard lure fisherman you should try dunking a few shiners. These little critters are still producing good limits of big fish around the pepperglass beds around Grassy Island.

Bass fishing with plastic worms, top water plugs, spoons and crankbaits in improving each day. Archie McNeil of Margate, Mike Cable and Phil Cable, both from Pompano, caught 12 nice bass on a Devil's Horse top water plug, with the largest being 8 pounds, 10 ounces. Kevin Taylor, age 11, of Belle Glade, caught a nice 6 pound bass while fishing with his father out of Sim's Fish Camp. Mike Smith of Light-house Point, weighed in a lunker bass that tipped the scales at 10 pounds, 6 ounces. He also had a 7 pound, 13 ounce lunker. Both fish were taken on a 7 inch Motor Oil plastic worm.

If you are a speck-man, you'll be happy to know you can put the rease in the pan and get ready for another good speck season. Very good catches are still being brought in. Live minnows are still the bait to use.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Galloway and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Callahan, all of Plantation, caught 175 specks while fishing in the Rim Canal south of Sim's Fish Camp. The specks are still being caught in about 14 feet of water in the dammed holes.

Our weekly winners in the Sim's Fish Camp "Catch a Big-Uno" contest were Mike Smith with his 10 pound bass and James McClure of Belle Glade with a one pound, one ounce speck. We need to weigh in a lot more big fish, so get on out and wet a line.

Gone fishing,
Buddy Norris

Tip of the week

Fishermen having open type bilges in their boats are often confronted with an accumulation of weed and other debris collecting in the area of their bilge pump.

This accumulation of weed can quickly and effectively clog the pump making it pretty useless until it has been cleaned out. It is difficult to pull in an anchor without having a lot of "Salad" attached when fishing weedy waters. It is also difficult to stop fishing to clean up the mess around the bilge pump. Especially when the fish are really biting. One ingenious fisherman I know solved this problem by obtaining a rectangular metal baking pan and punching the sides and bottom full of holes with an ice pick.

After so doing he sets the bilge pump in it and while the accumulated water can get in quickly and effectively clog the pump making it pretty useless until it has been cleaned out. It is difficult to pull in an anchor without having a lot of "Salad" attached when fishing weedy waters. It is also difficult to stop fishing to clean up the mess around the bilge pump. Data collection is valuable tool

Sportsmen hunting on Florida's wildlife management areas this year will likely run across a lonely outpost of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Check stations, some nothing more than a set of scales and a truck parked beside the road, are operated by the Commission as valuable tools of wildlife management. While the check station operator will likely assure himself the sportsman's license is valid and permit is in order, the real reason he's there is to collect biological data.

Through the examination of certain samples of bone or tissue, biologists are able to determine the animal's condition, age and get an idea of the population. Check station operators are trained to take those samples and to properly preserve them. "If we are to manage our game populations in the best way possible," said Everglades Regional Manager, Major Louis F. Gentry, "it is vital we obtain this data."

Sportsmen are urged to take all the game they are able to check station as soon as possible. Many operators will help field dress deer and hogs for the hunter in exchange for the necessary tissue samples.

Check station operators work long hours and many are volunteers. They're eager to help sportsmen and the Commission is hoping sportsmen will cooperate with them.

The hunter will be helping himself as well.

Black powder pistols are okayed

The use of black powder pistols has been approved by the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission effective this fall hunting season.

Fred Stanberry, director of the Division of Wildlife, said the regulation change allowing the use of black powder pistols with a rifled bore of a least 40 caliber came after consideration of a request from muzzle-loading gun hunters.

"Hunters can now hunt with a muzzle-loading handgun or carry a muzzle-loading handgun as a back-up weapon for their muzzle-loading rifle during any muzzle-loading gun season," Stanberry said.

The first opportunity to use a black powder handgun will take place October 24 when muzzle-loading gun season opens for three days only in the Northeast, Central, South and Everglades regions. The Northwest Region, although closed during October, will be open for a special muzzle-loading gun season February 7-22, 1981.

The muzzle-loading gun season will close October 28 in those four regions. Some wildlife management areas will be open for black powder hunting during this time.

Several people were arrested on opening day of the dove season, October 4, for shooting whitewings.

White-wing doves are protected

— The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is reminding hunters that white-winged doves are fully protected by state and federal law.

Whitewings, cousins of native mourning doves, which can be hunted during open seasons, are gradually increasing in number in south Florida. They were first introduced into the Dade County area during the early 1960s and can now be found as far north as West Palm Beach.

Dove hunters should learn to identify whitewings by their larger size and white markings, according to commission biologist Tim Regan. Mourning doves are grey and their tail bars and pointed where as the white wings' tail is square.

Several people were arrested on opening day of the dove season, October 4, for shooting whitewings.

HEAVY TRAFFIC surrounded Glades Central wide receiver Jessie Hester (42) when he attempted to gain yardage during the Raiders' first loss of the season. Besides Ray McDonald (80), there were three

Roadrunners run for title

BELLE GLADE — A funny thing happened last Thursday to the Lake Shore Middle School's football team on its way to defending the county football championship.

In the fourth game of the year, the Roadrunners were scored upon by John F. Kennedy Middle School. That may not sound unusual, particularly since the Roadrunners went ahead to win the game, 8-0, but it was the first time the undefeated Lake Shore team has seen points on the scoreboard for the opposition this year, due largely to a line of seventh and eighth graders averaging 201 and a 13-year old running back.

The combination should be enough to have Glades Central head coach Ben McCoy fidgeting with impatience and other high school coaches green with envy.

Coach Johnny Whitaker said that big line of seventh and eighth graders have enabled eighth grader Clifford Lee, who stands 6'11" and weighs in at 185 pounds, rack up "at least 200 yards a game" for the first four fifths of the team's regular season.

"I haven't clocked Clifford yet," Whitaker said when asked how fast his ace runningback was, "but we haven't found anybody who can keep up with him."

Whitaker said the line that springs Lee loose for most of the Roadrunners' yardage this year is composed of Anthony Ware, 6'11" and 211 pounds; Abraham Bayan, 6'0" and 200 pounds; Preston Washington, 6'0" and 200 pounds; Willie Martin, 5'9" and 215 pounds; and center Herman Lawson, 5'8" and 180.

"Most of our yardage is on the ground," Whitaker said. "We run a mix of power plays, sweeps and outside runs. The line does some excellent technique blocking for the power plays."

The Kennedy game was by far the closest game the Roadrunners have been involved in this year.

All the action came in the second quarter, starting with Kennedy's touchdown, the first allowed by the Roadrunner defense this year. On the following kickoff, Lee took the ball on his own 56 and ran 75 yards to paydirt. Shortly after that, defensive end Wardell Jefferson hit the Kennedy quarterback behind the line of scrimmage and linebacker Jojinto Paez nailed him in the end zone for a two-point safety, ending the scoring for the game.

In other action this year, the Roadrunners started out with a 29-0 win over Jeff Davis, followed that up with a 32-0 shellacking of Roosevelt Junior High and did even better by walloping Conniston, 36-0. The last regular game of the season will be played at 3 p.m. Thursday at Golvine, setting up a county-wide round robin to decide who wins the county championship won last year by the Roadrunners.

Whitaker said Lake Shore will begin the round robin at 3 p.m., Oct. 30 at Glades Central football stadium, playing the number four team in the county.

Assisting Whitaker this year in his coaching duties have been Benny Murvin and James Harrington and Whitaker said further support has been provided by the Rev. Berri Chambers, who has a son on the team.

Atlantic High defenders on hand to greet the ball when it reached the area from Jacob Rhames. The pass was no good and the Raiders went on to lose, 12-7.

Crusaders dominate everything but the score against Berean

BELLE GLADE — The Christian Day School football team put it all together Saturday, according to head coach Gus Harmon, and played their best and most consistent game of the year, amassing more yards on the ground and in the air doing everything but stopping Berean Academy's big plays and penalties.

Once again, Harmon's charges used the left away play on the first play from scrimmage to score on a 96-yard run by quarterback Alex Morales, duplicating the play that gave them a touchdown on their first play of the season against the same team.

Harmon said the play was set up when Tony Duboy took the opening kickoff and fumbled into the end zone and was forced to pick the ball up and run with it, making it four yards onto the field before being dragged down.

The Crusaders lined up in what is becoming a familiar play to Christian Day fans, followed by another series for each school when the defensive teams held. Then, Berean took still another punt on their own 45 yard line and two plays later scored on a 51-yard passing bomb. An attempted pass for two points failed and Berean extended its lead, 14-7 in the second quarter.

On the following kickoff, Harmon said the Crusaders held the ball for eight plays and carried it to the Berean 45 but still another 15-yarder was walked off, forcing another punt to the Berean 11 yard line and setting up an 89-yard punt return to paydirt, giving Berean a 20-7 lead.

The half ended with the Crusaders at the Berean 20 yard line. After the second half kickoff, the Crusaders held Berean for three downs, forcing a punt and Christian Day marched 81 yards on a drive capped by a two-yard touchdown run by Kent Davis, who picked up 58 yards for the game. Harmon said Davis and Ronnie Cameron, who rushed for 61 yards for the game, sparked the long drive.

Morales connected with Robert Echols for two-point conversion following the TD yards and that ended the scoring, 20-15 as the third quarter ended.

After Christian Day kicked off the ball, Berean was held to minus nine yards on the next series of plays, forcing another punt. CDS, Harmon said, earned 35 yards on the following drive but was penalized 20 yards, getting one more scoring chance deep in their own territory with five minutes to go.

"We had the momentum going," Harmon said, "and we might could have pulled it out and scored but one of their players was injured and it took a long time for the ambulance to arrive and our kids must have cooled off while they were waiting."

He said the final minutes of the game were like a nightmare, with the Crusaders making yardage only to have it called back on penalties, and the clock wound down without another major threat by either team.

Harmon said, "that our defense was fabulous. They held Berean to 47 yards rushing and this is a team that rushed 180 yards against us in the first game of the season. We really shut 'em down. We outdid them everywhere but on the scoreboard. This was our most consistent game of the year."

The Crusaders play again at 3:30 p.m. Friday at home, hosting Miami Westwood Christian at St. Peter's Lutheran School, after the Westwood game, the Crusaders only have one more home game, on Nov. 8 against St. Edwards.

BELLE GLADE — The Christian Day School girls volleyball team beat the Glades Day school team in two straight games last week and then turned around to do the same thing to Jupiter Christian School.

Hungry Eagles hand Raiders first loss, title up in air

BELLE GLADE — The apparent lock Glades Central High School had on the District 14AAA football championship dissolved Friday into the reality of a sudden death playoff at the end of the year when a grinding Atlantic High offense combined with an unyielding defense to hand the Raiders their first defeat of the season.

Atlantic Coach Steve Hardin was successful with a game plan no other team had been able to make work this year: hold onto the ball long enough and the best offense in the state won't be able to score. Hardin's Eagles made it work to the tune of a 12-7 victory that threw the district championship into a three-way tie for first place.

Frank Rosell of the Florida High School Activities Association said the tie will be resolved after the regular season when Glades Central, Atlantic and Cardinal Newman meet at a field convenient to all teams for the district playoffs.

Rosell said the new method, which didn't go into effect until this year, is based on an experiment last year in Dade County and takes the final determination of which school represents the district in post-season playoffs out of politics and puts it onto the gridiron.

Previously, a tie was broken with vote by the principals of the schools in the district.

What will happen now, Rosell said, is that the teams will determine a site the Monday after the end of the regular season (Nov. 24), all three teams will participate the same night, with an odd man out coin toss determining who will play first.

The actual playoff will begin with one team being given the ball on the other team's 10 to score. The playoffs will continue until one of the teams gains an edge. The winner will then face the team given a bye on the first round. The winner of that playoff will be the District 14AAA champion.

Raider Coach Ben McCoy said his team simply wasn't up for the Atlantic game Friday night. "We just weren't playing like you can't do anything if you don't have the right attitude and they beat us on the line of scrimmage, offensively and defensively."

A measure of the Eagles' domination of the game is that they held the Raiders to minus 21 yards rushing and 67 yards in the air while the Atlantic offense piled up 188 yards on the ground, mostly between the tackles.

Another measure of how the game went is that Jessie Hester, at cornerback, led the Raiders defensively, making 11 unassisted tackles and four assists. Under normal circumstances, a cornerback will have few chances to make tackles since most will be made by linemen or linebackers.

Atlantic held onto the ball for 67 plays in the game while the Raiders made 14 from scrimmage and six of these ended up in quarterback sacks.

The Raiders came out attempting to run against a defensive line that gave and asked no quarter and Greg Babin, considered by many the finest high school running back in the state, was held to eight yards on seven carries. At that, Babin was the only Glades Central running back to make positive yardage for the game, with Willie McCoy and Jacob Rhames netting minus yardage.

Rhames' minus yardage also told the story when McCoy finally gave up the running attack and went to the air. The Glades Central line simply couldn't protect the junior quarterback long enough for him to get off his passes on most plays and even when he could the Eagles' penetration and pursuit were such that few yards were netted in the Glades Central punt on its only real offensive display of the night on the next series of downs when Atlantic kicked off to the Raider 15 yard line. Babin took the ball and almost broke free to go all the way but was pulled down by the last defender behind him and the Atlantic goal line at the Raider 47.

On the first play from scrimmage, Rhames connected with Stevie Seese on a 20 yard pass play to the Atlantic 33. Hot and clicking, McCoy zipped the ball to McCoy on the next play, taking the ball down to the Eagle 7 yard line. McCoy lost on the following play but Rhames made everything all right one play later when he passed to Jessie Hester in the end zone from eight yards out. Rhames then kicked the extra point, narrowing the Atlantic lead to 9-7 with 4:15

Raider serial attack. Atlantic didn't attempt to conceal their game plan, taking a kickoff to open the game and holding onto the ball for 14 downs, penetrating as far as the Glades Central 3 yard line, only to be sent back to the Raider 39 on penalties and punting out to the Raider 2 after a series of punt more than seven minutes of the first quarter.

Babin managed to punch out four yards in the first two plays from scrimmage and a pass from Rhames to Ray McDonald was no good, forcing the Raiders to punt on a fourth and six situation to their own 32 yard line.

Atlantic lost a yard in three downs, including a first down on two incompletes and a pass and a punt back to the Raider 6 yard line. Babin slammed into the Atlantic line for two yards to set up a Willie McCoy loss three on the next down. On third and 11, Rhames was sacked in the Glades Central end zone for a two-point safety and the Eagles led 2-0 with nine seconds left in the first period.

The Raiders were kept in the hole on the next series of downs after they kicked the ball from their own 20 yard line. The kickoff went to the Eagle 40 but a return was made to the Glades Central 36. Seven plays later, the Eagles punted from the Raider 27 yard line into the Glades Central end zone, giving the Raiders the ball on their own 20.

In three plays the Raiders lost five yards on a penalty but got the ball out to the 17 before coming into a punt formation that set up the Eagles only touchdown of the night.

Samir Zayyad was unable to handle a bad snap on the attempted punt and fumbled the ball in the shadow of the Raider goalposts. Jeffrey Willis picked up the ball and attempted to run but was nailed on the Glades Central 3, from where Robert Santagado scored on the next play. The kick was good and Atlantic held a 9-0 lead with 6:28 left in the half.

Glades Central punt on its only real offensive display of the night on the next series of downs when Atlantic kicked off to the Raider 15 yard line. Babin took the ball and almost broke free to go all the way but was pulled down by the last defender behind him and the Atlantic goal line at the Raider 47.

On the first play from scrimmage, Rhames connected with Stevie Seese on a 20 yard pass play to the Atlantic 33. Hot and clicking, McCoy zipped the ball to McCoy on the next play, taking the ball down to the Eagle 7 yard line. McCoy lost on the following play but Rhames made everything all right one play later when he passed to Jessie Hester in the end zone from eight yards out. Rhames then kicked the extra point, narrowing the Atlantic lead to 9-7 with 4:15

Strickland completes course

Navy Firearm Apprentice Kenneth A. Strickland Jr., son of Stella Turner of 500 Orange Ave. Circle, Belle Glade, has completed the Basic Electrician's Mate Course.

During the six-paced course at the Service School Command, Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., the Strickland received instruction on electrical theory and studied the operating principles of the batteries, generators, motors, and transformers used aboard ships and at shore installations. The course was designed to provide a thorough understanding of the operation.

A 1979 graduate of Glades Day High School, Strickland joined the Navy in November 1979.

Evening quilting class starts

BELLE GLADE—A quilting for beginners class is being offered by Palm Beach Junior College-Glades on Thursday evening, Oct. 30 through Nov. 20, meeting from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. each of the four meetings. The course is designed to give instruction in cutting and fitting patterns, piecing tops, basting together lining, basting and top, placing in the quilting frame and quilting with different designs. The instructor, Mabel Prevatt of Belle Glade, said the supplies needed for the first session include needles, thimble, cotton thread, scissors and fabric scraps. Registration should be as soon as possible to be sure there will be a sufficient number of students for the class. The fee will be $8.

Clubwomen attend planning session

BELLE GLADE—The City Association of Women's Club of Belle Glade was well represented at the annual fall planning session of the Florida Association of Colored Women's Clubs.

The fall planning session held in St. Augustine, Saturday, Oct. 11, was presided over by the newly elected state president, Mrs. Mable Bell of Ocala.

Mrs. Ida Mizell, president of the City Association of Women's Club of Belle Glade, presented the local organization at the meeting.

Also participating in the planning session were Mrs. Willie M. Adams, president of the La Chic Mesdames Social Club; Mrs. Margaret Poole, president of the Violette Community Club; Mrs. Elsie Thomas, president of the Y-scene United Ladies Club; Mrs. Joan Bass, president of the FAWC, and member of the Women's Civic League, Mrs. Corine Ghent, member of the La Chic Mesdames and Violette Community Club; Mrs.

Shirley Floyd, member of the Glades Silhouettes, and Mrs. Nina Singleton, member of the La Chic Mesdames and Women's Civic League.

Mrs. Adams, elected fourth vice-president at the state convention in June was appointed coordinator of the Miss FAWC Extravaganza.

Play-what its all about

BELLE GLADE—The Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a special Chats with Parents Program entitled, "Play-What Its All About."

The program will include the purpose of play and how toys aid in that activity.

Discussion will provide parents with ideas, instructions and suggestions to make or buy toys and games for infants to preschoolers. Mrs. Arlen C. Jones, Extension Home Economics Agents Program Leader said this program can save the consumer money and time in shopping for toys.

Mrs. Bass was re-appointed chairman of the Miss FAWC Extravaganza program and Mrs. Mizell was appointed chairman of the Constitution and By-laws committee.

Mrs. Adams said the fall planning session was a very productive one and plans were outlined for the 1981 state meeting in Ocala.

The workshop will be held Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 2:30 p.m., at the Glades Agricultural Building, 2976 State Rd. #15.

Parents will also have the opportunity to make a toy during this program. Workshop participants are asked to bring an embroidery needle and a skein of colorful embroidery floss.

Reservations are suggested. For further information call Audrey Norman at 683-1207.

PHS holds 50th homecoming

PAHOKEE— It started 50 years ago with a pass from Leon Spooner to Dan Padgett. On that day in 1930, Pahokee High School put its first football score on the record. Today in 1980, Pahokee High is going to bring back some of those memories with a special Homecoming celebration Nov. 7 for the 50th anniversary of PHS football.

The "50th Year of PHS Football Committee" has been set up at the school, headed by co-chairmen Ms. Norma Miller and Mrs. Edith Cowan. The committee is already under way organizing activities for the homecoming pep rally and pre-game show, as well as a brunch for the founding football team members.

The committee will enter a float in the Homecoming Parade, sponsored by community raised funds and constructed with community support.

The first players have been sent letters of invitation to the Junior-pahokee football game and homecoming activities. Enclosed in the regular football program on Nov. 7 will be a special supplement recognizing the first team and contributors to the float fund. 1980 is a flurry from 1930 in many ways. To Pahokee High, the name "Bean Pickers" is no longer the name of their football team, though it has been used by coastal schools in the past to derogatorily describe the Glades. Today, Pahokee High roots for the "Blue Devils," and the colors blue and white have replaced the original red and black.

Names and faces have certainly changed. For a look to the past, the 1930 Pahokee High School football team, with a three win, three loss record, was composed of: Dan Padgett, C.R. Wilder, P.A. Bass, "DoDo" Parker, George Cranford, Carl Thompson, Otis Vinson, Louis Gold, Leon Spooner, John Padgett and Jack Winnie.

The 1931 team, composed of many of the same players, increased their record to seven wins and 1 loss and were coached by Frank Hobson.

All ex-PHS football players are extended a special invitation to attend the Homecoming game.

New basketball parents club forms

BELE: GLADE-A newly formed club involving parents of basketball players will meet at Glades Central Community High School at 8 p.m. Monday in the main campus library according to new basketball coach George Mattes.

The meeting will be conducted by the team coaches and the newly elected officers, Betty Stevenson. Items to be discussed include a dinner dance, club dues and money making projects, constitute al guidelines and a community service project.

Coach Mattes said he is interested in hearing from any local service club that may have a service project that could involve the members of the basketball teams.

All interested parents of the varsity, junior varsity and ninth grade basketball teams are invited to attend this meeting.

The game's last scoring came as the final seconds ticked away in the first half. Following the Raiders kickoff to the Atlantic 19, the Eagles largely on the strength of fullback Horace Wilmot's pounding through the middle of the Raider line, picked up 20 yards in three minutes before the Eagles punted out to the Raider 35 yard line.

Rhames fumbled on the first play from scrimmage, coughing up the ball on his own 25 yard line, giving the Eagles good field position again. With only 25 seconds left in the half, Atlantic quarterback Charles Santagado ran one play to the Raider 12, then set up the team for a field goal attempt. The first attempt was partially blocked and no good but a roughing the kicker penalty gave kicker Dave Jaeger another chance from the Glades Central 9 yard line, enough of a difference so this one was good, the ball sailing through the uprights for three more points as the clock ticked out the second half.

The Raiders made a desperate attempt to put points on the board then, with Rhames looking for Hester on three consecutive pass plays. A ferocious pass defense on the part of the Eagles resulted in one incomplection, a loss of three on second down when Rhames did find jet in a floundering pass, only to have a defending lineman drop Hester on his own 17 yard line the second he received the ball, and a seven yard loss on third down when Rhames was sacked for the 1st time in the game.

The Raiders punted out to their own 32 yard line with 2:52 left in the game and Atlantic, again riding the power running of Wilmot, crashed back to the Raider 15 before time ran out and the Eagles left the field with a 12-7 victory, their second of the season.

Chiles tells Chamber

Feds getting message

BELLE GLADE — Senator Lawton Chiles quickly found a rapport last Thursday with the crowd at the Chamber of Commerce banquet when he said he had walked SR80 between Belle Glade and West Palm Beach during his 1970 campaign for election, but he met more than oncoming traffic.

"I walked that highway and I know what it feels like," he said, "to wonder if the next car is the one you're going to have to jump in the ditch to avoid. If you ever need anybody to testify about State Road 80, I'll be there."

But Chiles said he also recalls meeting a young doctor while walking the killer highway who expressed an interest in politics and who asked for advice on how to break into the political spectrum.

"I don't give that kind of advice anymore," he laughed after making the obvious reference to Dr. John Grady, who challenged Chiles for his seat four years ago.

Just before entering the dining room at the Elks Lodge, Chiles had been the guest of the city commission in a small reception and fielded queries concerning such items as new regulations on federal grants that recently faced the city.

In his visit with the chamber's general membership, however, Chiles concentrated on two subjects, federal spending and government regulatory and paperwork demands made on individuals and businesses.

He said business leaders, civic leaders, elderly citizens and middle income families are all telling Congress inflation is their number one concern.

"They're saying that Congress must bring down spending. They point to government spending and say that Congress must live within its means," Chiles said. "I agree with them and I think that message is finally sinking in with the entire Congress."

Chiles said he believes the most important factor in inflation is our own belief in future inflation, that it becomes a self-fulfilling prophecy because we take our money out of savings and spend it now, and borrow more and spend that too, because we believe it'll be worth less in the future, all of which makes the money worth less even sooner than next year.

He said the one sure method Congress has of fighting inflation is to control spending. He said his primary goal is to make long-term cuts in spending while increasing defense budgets for the next several years.

"The way I look at it," he said, "is that it's not a question of defense dollars competing for other program dollars. If you don't have a source of adequate defense, you can't have any other program."

He said he believes Congress has gotten back on the track of increasing real defense spending and at the same time is making a concerted effort toward long-term spending decreases.

The hardest type of spending to decrease, he said, is that type of welfare program based on formulas, such as a formula which, if an applicant meets, automatically qualify that applicant for government money.

The problem, he said, is that these programs are locked in for several years in the future and can be changed only by getting the formulas changed.

That means little for next year's budget and Chiles said these types of programs make up 75 per cent of the budget, leaving only 25 per cent of the budget from which cuts can be made, and most of that is made up by manpower costs.

One specific cut he said he total anticipated savings of $1.1 billion a year. The joint conference wouldn't even go along with that much.

In other legislation Chiles said he is active in, he got the Governmental Affairs Committee to go along with a provision in a Sunset Bill that would require Congress to examine a spending program or funding for that program would program would automatically cease.

He said he fought hard to include that provision because, "We've got to put the gun to Congress' head to get it to look at old programs," but another committee substituted working which only "encourages" Congress to examine the program in question.

Chiles said he would attempt to add an amendment, when and if the bill reaches the Senate floor, which would put the stronger provision back in the bill.

In another bill he is sponsoring, he said anyone in the Federal government requesting a study or information would have to justify the need for it, as well as the cost, or it wouldn't get done.

The last item Chiles brought up reflects the current concern on falling productivity in the nation's economy. He said he asked the chairman of the Budget Committee to appoint a special subcommittee on industrial growth and productivity in the economy and, after the committee was formed, he was named chairman.

"Lots of proposals have been made in Congress (about falling productivity) before we even have a full understanding of the economic forces at work," Chiles said. "I think there's been too much day-to-day reaction to crises in the economy. We need a clear focus on the availability of capital and other important financial factors."

"We'll finally have a chance to develop some sound policy in this area," he said. "I don't have the answers to the complex problems that surround our productivity decline but I'm going to do my darndest to find out."

person's) registration will not guarantee movement to safety, however, (the) registration will allow maximum utilization of available resources for assistance."

Owen said disabled citizens, particularly those living in areas prone to serious flooding in case of storm or hurricane, and have no arrangements made for evacuation, should complete the cards and take them or mail them to the nearest fire station. He said the forms would remain confidential to the maximum degree consistent with operational requirements.

He went on to say the forms should be kept up to date, particularly should the resident move.

The questionnaires include such information as age, sex, telephone number, such as oxygen or wheelchairs) required by the respondent, the person's name, address, telephone number, age, sex, the name and phone number of the person's doctor and the nature of the disability.

The questionnaires come in the form of two cards, a white one and a green one. One will be kept on file at the local fire department and the other at Civil Defense Headquarters.

Belle Glade fire Chief E.W. "Pete" Webb, Pahokee Fire Chief Cecil Phillips and South Bay Fire Chief Jim Webb all said they have a supply of cards on hand.

Anyone who wishes to register in the program, they said, may come to the fire department nearest them and complete the forms and Webb said Belle Glade residents may also call and someone at the Belle Glade Fire Department will fill out the form over the telephone.

Sen. Lawton Chiles

had proposed was to eliminate the jobs portion of the CETA program. "There's been mountains of abuse in the program and it hasn't helped very many workers to get real jobs."

He said he wanted to cut out the entire program by the end of fiscal year 1981 but the Senate would only go along with an orderly phase-out and accept only half the

Disabled cared for

All three fire departments in Western Palm Beach County said this week they're cooperating with the County Civil Defense in a program designed to offer protection to disabled citizens in the event of disaster.

The plan centers around a questionnaire to be filled out by persons who may be confined to bed or a wheelchair or who, for some other reason, might find it hard to evacuate in the event of a hurricane, flooding, major fires or some other type of disaster.

The program was provided for under Florida law of Oct. 1 and Col. Robert C. Owen, director of the county's Civil Defense, said the questionnaires would let the local fire departments and Civil Defense Headquarters in West Palm Beach know of disabled citizens so efforts could be made to take care of them.

Every effort should be made to provide or arrange for private care and transportation through family or friends," Owen said. "A person's) registration will not guarantee movement to safety, however, (the) registration will allow maximum utilization of available resources for assistance."

Owen said disabled citizens, particularly those living in areas prone to serious flooding in case of storm or hurricane, and have no arrangements made for evacuation, should complete the cards and take them or mail them to the nearest fire station. He said the forms would remain confidential to the maximum degree consistent with operational requirements.

He went on to say the forms should be kept up to date, particularly should the resident move.

The questionnaires include such information as age, sex, telephone number, such as oxygen or wheelchairs) required by the respondent, the person's name, address, telephone number, age, sex, the name and phone number of the person's doctor and the nature of the disability.

The questionnaires come in the form of two cards, a white one and a green one. One will be kept on file at the local fire department and the other at Civil Defense Headquarters.

Belle Glade fire Chief E.W. "Pete" Webb, Pahokee Fire Chief Cecil Phillips and South Bay Fire Chief Jim Webb all said they have a supply of cards on hand.

Anyone who wishes to register in the program, they said, may come to the fire department nearest them and complete the forms and Webb said Belle Glade residents may also call and someone at the Belle Glade Fire Department will fill out the form over the telephone.

New breakwater a year away-Chiles

The completion of the Pahokee Harbor breakwater extension is at least another year away, U.S. Sen. Lewiston Chiles told a group of citizens last Thursday.

Chiles said before actual construction could begin, a final study of the project, slated for 1981, had to be completed. Chiles, who spent more than an hour touring the harbor, said one of the problems was organization. "The Corps of Engineers says it's water management's problem and water management says it's the Corps'. There are too many players," Chiles said.

The program must be placed on a 107-project list before any action can be taken, Chiles said. 107-projects are appropriated on a lump-sum rather than specific money basis and the Corps usually has more discretion as to the use of the funds, he added.

City consulting engineer James Sloane said the extension was necessary because of South Florida water management plans to raise the rim canal level some where between 18 and 21 feet. The present level is around 15 feet, Sloane said.

"The breakwater will have to be raised at least six feet if the water level is raised to 21 feet," Sloane said. Chiles added "nothing can be done until we find out what water management's plans are."

David Strickland, Assistant Chief of Operations for South Florida Water Management said there were no plans to raise the level of the canal higher than 17.5 feet.

Former Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett called Pahokee harbor "our greatest asset," but added that without the breakline extension the present docks and walkways "would be like a river during heavy winds."

"As it is now, it's almost impossible for rescue workers to get a boat launched much less get out on the lake to help someone. That lake is worse than the ocean," Padgett said. Chiles said he would try to get the breakwater project moved up on the 107-project list and would investigate alternative sources of funding but said the main concern now was to conclude final study so construction could begin.

Cost of the project, which includes a renovation of the harbor with plans for a nature theater, boardwalk, floating dock and restaurant, is approximately $2 million. The city currently has $50,000 budgeted for the project.

Pahokee needs a new marina, Mayor Norma Norman said. Boaters are complaining about the lack of facilities. It would be a boom to the city."

Norman called Chiles visit "encouraging."

Three presidential reps to speak at Meet the Candidates night

PAHOKEE — Representatives for the three front-running presidential candidates will be on hand to speak at 8 p.m. Saturday when the Pahokee Business and Professional Women's Association holds its Meet the Candidates Night at the Prince Theatre.

BPW President Kathi Ligon said Tuesday she had heard from the last of the three presidential campaigns this morning, when Bruce Spector, the acting legal assistant director for the Carter-Mondale campaign in West Palm Beach confirmed he would be on hand.

Miss Ligon said she had already received confirmation from Tom Kleepe of Winter Haven, who is the co-chairman of the Reagan-Bush campaign for Florida, and Shirley Watson, the Southern Coordinator for John Anderson.

Besides the three presidential candidate representatives, Miss Ligon said 22 candidates, running for offices ranging from congressional district 11 to county commission and other county offices.

Candidates, and the offices they hope to fill, include:

• Monroe (Al) Coogler, U.S. Representative Dist. 11, Republican.

• Democrat Jeffery Burk and Republican Tom Lewis, State Senate Dist. 27.

• Democrat Ray Liberti and Republican Mack Freeman, State Representative Dist. 78.

• Democrat Gary Steven Israel and Republican James Watt, State Representative Dist. 80.

• Democrat Gene Campbell, State Representative Dist. 82.

• Republican Frank Messersmith, State Representative Dist. 83.

• Democrat Peggy Ewalt and Republican William (Bill) Taylor, County Commission Dist. 1.

• Democrat Dennis Koehler and Republican Chuck Potter, County Commission Dist. 3.

• Republican Bill Bailey and Democrat James Whitted,

County Commission Dist. 5.

• Democrat Frank Flannery and Republican Richard P. Willie, Sheriff.

• Republican David L. Reid and Democrat John Underwood, Property Appraiser.

• Republican George Blank, Supervisor of Elections.

• Democrat Nelson E. Bailey and Republican David H. Bludworth, State Attorney.

This is the first time the BPW has attempted to hold a Meet the Candidates night and Miss Ligon said it works out as expected, she expects the club will begin holding them during each general election, but possibly split them into two meetings so more candidates for more offices could participate.

Tractors perform

BELLE GLADE — A group of 91 customers, distributors, dealers and company officials of International Harvester Corporation, representing 16 Latin American countries, Japan and Surinam took a close look at a new line of tractors during their things in a field off SR 715 Tuesday morning.

The group of farmers, distributors and dealers, mostly from Central and South America, began their tour Monday at the corporation's district conference in Miami, stopped for the demonstration in Belle Glade Tuesday morning, before being bused on to Orlando and flying to Tallahassee that afternoon.

While staying in Tallahassee, the group will visit for the next several days the Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition in Moultrie, Ga. before flying on to Memphis to end their tour. J. G. Seckland, International Harvester district manager, said the group included some of the largest farmers in South America, including one of the biggest cotton producers in Brazil, who owns more than 100,000 acres of land, four cotton gins and grows soybeans on the side.

The tractors, highlighted by demonstrations of three models of four-wheel drive, articulating tractors, were furnished by Glade and Grove Supply.

Can Your Child Pass This Test For Spinal Curvature?

In May of 1979, Science magazine reported, "Recent findings suggest that perhaps as many as 10 percent of the children in the age group (10-13) have scoliosis." In fact, several studies indicate that children aged 6-16 receive yearly scoliosis screening tests.

A lateral curvature of the spine, scoliosis, in serious cases, can produce psychological stress, detract from appearance and result in extensive physical consequences such as degenerative arthritis of the spine with increasing, severe back pain and disability. As scoliosis stresses the spine, it may lead to disc disease and sciatica. Preventing the permanent deformity and disability caused by scoliosis is largely dependent upon early detection. Unfortunately, what many parents refer to as "bad posture" is in reality often an indication of scoliosis. Here's a simple scoliosis detection test that you can give your child at home.

With the child standing straight, look at the back:

- Is one shoulder higher than the other?
- Is one shoulder blade more prominent than the other?
- When arms are hanging down loosely at the sides, is the distance between arms and body on one side greater than on the other?
- Does one hip seem higher or more prominent than the other?
- Does the child seem to lean to one side?
- With the child bending forward, does one shoulder blade seem to protrude more than the other?
- Do you see a hump in the back in the rib-cage area?
- Is there a hump near the waist?

If the answer is "Yes" to any of the above questions, then you are urged to make an appointment for your child to receive a professional scoliosis screening test.

Pahokee BPW selects Woman of Year

PAHOKEE — Doris Wetherington was named Woman of the Year last week as part of the local Business and Professional Women's Club's participation in National BPW Week, which will end Saturday night with a Meet the Candidates program at Prince Theatre.

BPW Awards Banquet Chairman Doris Sasser presented a plaque to Mrs. Wetherington in recognition of her contributions to the community, particularly over the past year as president of Pahokee Civic Pride, Inc.

Mrs. Wetherington and her husband, C.R., have been in the funeral home business in Pahokee since 1946, incorporating an ambulance service for 27 of those years. They have been at their present location on Cypress Avenue since 1953.

BPW President Kathi Ligon said she'd asked Mrs. Wetherington about her hobbies and received the reply that with a husband, a career, three sons, two grandchildren, church and Pahokee Civic Pride, she didn't really have time for other activities.

She said she'd like to see the youth of the community become more interested and involved in Pahokee and in local government.

Miss Ligon said the banquet and the plaque is intended to become annual events.

Dentips: advice on Halloween treats

Halloween is a horror story for children's teeth. The giving and receiving of candy is a tradition during this holiday time...but it's a tradition that can mean more cavities for children.

When witches and ghosts come ringing your doorbell this Halloween, treat them with something other than the usual gummy candy bar.

Dr. Joseph Diaz, a Tampa dentist said. He suggests alternatives to the giving and receiving of candy during Halloween.

"I'm not saying that when a child rings your doorbell you should present him with a toothbrush and toothpaste, but such things as raisins and popcorn are special treats and aren't as bad as candy," Dr. Diaz also mentioned apples but warned that they should be carefully inspected before letting your child eat them.

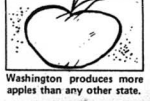

Other alternatives to candy might include:

- Sticks of sugarless gum.
- Small pieces of raisins, corn chips or raisins.
- Baseball cards.
- Inexpensive coloring books - crayons.
- Banquettes or hair clips.
- Fake wax lips or finger-nails.

Roasted pumpkin seeds: Festive and traditional...hand them out in plastic sandwich bags.

- Rubber spiders, trick rings or other gadgets found in five and dime stores or novelty shops.
- Comic books.

Dr. Diaz advises parents to let their children get all the candy they want on Halloween then reduce it by half.

Washington produces more apples than any other state.

BAND MEMBERS relax during a brief rest period. Students spend many hours after school each week practicing halftime routines that may only last a few minutes.

Band practice no easy tune

By Wayne Wallace

"I said attention! Don't move! Stop scratching your head!"

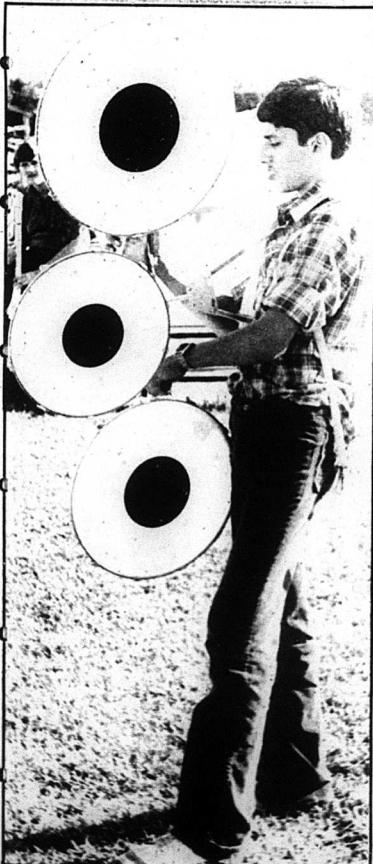

In instants what appeared to be a motley assemblage of teenagers is transformed into a precision marching machine that calls itself the Glades Day High School Marching Band.

The 50-member unit marches, spins, twists and pivots hour after hour under the blistering October sun, rehearsing and re-rehearsing a routine that sometimes may only produce a six-minute halftime show.

Band Director Tom Watson assumes the role of field general at marching rehearsals, barking orders with an uncharacteristic gruffness and issuing threats that would keep the Pittsburgh Steelers defensive line at bay. But the students have become adjusted to Watson's "dictatorship" and sarcastic witticisms are often exchanged between teacher and student.

Watson is midway through his first year as GDS band director and said he has high hopes for the program.

CARRYING AN instrument properly is not always the most comfortable way, so students improvise whenever possible. Here a tom-tom drummer totes the skins in a rather unorthodox fashion.

LONG HOURS of practice are required to obtain the proper hand and mouth coordination for any instrument.

STUDENTS FIND many distractions to keep their minds alert while not playing instruments.

BAND DIRECTOR Tom Watson leads the band from atop the bleachers.

A LONG DAY on the marching field left this trombonist weary but ready.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Littlewood Rice, Jr.

Cross-Rice exchange wedding vows

Miss Margaret Lucinda Cross of Palm Springs and Mr. Kenneth Littlewood Rice, Jr. of Jupiter were united in marriage, Saturday, Sept. 20th, at 11 a.m. at First Baptist Church of Belle Glade.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis William Cross, Jr. of Belle Glade, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Littlewood Rice, Sr. of Jupiter.

Rev. Robert Atkins performed the double ring ceremony. The traditional wedding music was provided by organists, Gordon Corbin, Mr. Milton Carpenter sang "Walk Hand in Hand," "Sunrise, Sunset," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The altar was simply decorated with two white nine-branch taper candelabra holding pink tapers and fresh arrangements of gladioli, white mums, rubrum lilies and baby's breath. The family pews were marked with tailored rose satin bows centered with vanda orchids. Mrs. John O. Thomas registered the guests at the entrance of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The wedding dress was a Priscilla model, featuring a high rise illusion net and Alencon lace bodice embroidered with seed pearls. The sleeves were full and tapered with satin covered buttons. Her fingertip veil fell from a small silk hat with a side trim of Alencon lace flowers and seed pearls. The bride was dressed in a knitted chiffon gown of cinnamon color over taffeta with matching picture hat trimmed in grosgrain ribbon, styled by New York Milliners. The cowl neckline flowed into the cape sleeves and softly draped bodice, peplum, and skirt. Her bouquet was in Edwardian style of mauve vanda orchids, rubrum lilies and baby's breath. She wore a single pearl necklace, gift of the bride.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Bryan Francis Cross, sister-in-law of the bride. Her attire and bouquet were identical to the Maid of Honor's. Miss Julie Hutton, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Her sashed dress was of soft pink satin quiana with deep neck and hem ruffled and dainty puffed sleeves. Pink rose petals were carried in her pink and white basket. A gold locket, gift of the bride, was her only ornament.

Stephen K. Rice, brother of the groom was the best man. The groomsmen were Bruce Paty, Robert Siemon, and Bryan Francis Cross, brother of the bride.

The ringbearer, cousin of the bride, Thaddeus Bamford, was a miniature replica of the groomsmen. He carried the traditional satin pillow with rings.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Francis William Cross, Jr., chose a blue-gray all over pleated bodice and skirt of polyester styled with panels edged in green, white and rose print. Large pink flowers were silhouetted on the skirt and bodice. Her corsage was a white cattleya orchid, and her white gloves were wrist length.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Kenneth Littlewood Rice, Sr., was dressed in dusty rose floral georgette. The bodice was pleated and piped in a matching mauve color. The floral design continued from the bodice in a lateral pattern. Matching pumps, gloves, and a white cattleya orchid completed her costume.

The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Francis William Cross, Sr., selected for her granddaughter's wedding fall tones of polyester crepe with sky blue flower print. Her pumps were of matching shade of the background print. A jacket of polyester voile of the same design was worn with a shoulder pinned white cattleya orchid corsage.

The grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Arthur P. Ellis, wore a tailored open weave white and navy linen dress trimmed in navy linen. Her gloves and slippers complemented the dress. Her corsage was a cattleya orchid.

Following the ceremony, breakfast was served at the Glade Civic Center. The bride's table was skirted with gathered white sheath material lined with pink pebble crepe. It was overlaid with a cloth of white batiste and lace squares. Centering the bride's table was a five tiered Baptist pound cake, baked by the bride's grandmother, and decorated by a family friend.

The cake was pale pink with falling rose petals the color of the bride's attendants' dresses, and was topped by white satin bells. The silver coffee services were at each end of the bride's table, with epergne arrangements between the cake and coffee services composed of pink carnations with white pom poms and baby's breath. Satin ribbon matching the cake blossoms accented at the table.

Two round tables flanked the bride's table. Each was covered with a flared skirted cloth of pink pebble crepe over which there was a half-overlay of white batiste and lace squares bordered with ruffle. On one table was the groom's cake, a three tiered chocolate confection topped with bronze grapes. On the other table was the silver punch bowl. Both tables were accented with the mauve ribbon strips and fern.

The food table was covered with floor length white batiste and lace squares over pink pebble crepe with satin ribbon and fern trim. The centerpiece was a silver buffetier. Two epergne arrangements of pink carnations, white pom poms and baby's breath completed the decor. The breakfast menu included many delicious gourmet items served from silver trays.

Hostesses for the reception were: Mrs. Milton Carpenter, Mrs. Frank X. Carroll, Mrs. Lois Davis, Mrs. H. G. Edwards, and Mrs. Ellis F. Wilkinson at the coffee service; Mrs. Howard Drawdy, Mrs. Robert Finannon, Mrs. J. Eddie Jones, Mrs. Earl Lindrose at the food table; Mrs. Walter C. Bamford and Mrs. Henry O. Earwood serving the bride's cake; Mrs. Jack Shaffer serving the groom's cake; Mrs. Frank C. Anderson at the punch table assisted by Mrs. Hugh Brown, Mrs. Robert Goebel, and Mrs. Jim Politis; Miss Margaret C. Thompson distributed the rice among the guests; Mrs. William A. Thibaud coordinated the reception and directed the wedding.

For the bride's going-away costume, she was dressed in a plum colored two piece tailored suit with pin-striped blouse and matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Following a wedding trip to the Cayman Islands, the couple will reside in Jupiter where Mr. Rice is a building contractor, and the bride teaches English at Lake Worth High School.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding and reception were: from Boca Raton, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Church; Boynton, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gattuso; Clearwater, Mr. and Mrs. Allan M. Blackmer; Denver, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. John T. Bamford and sons, Tucker and Tadi; Ft. Lauderdale, Mr. and Mrs. K. Becker; Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Scott; Jupiter, Mr. and Mrs. Arlin Dell; Lake Park, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paul.

Lake Worth, Mrs. Dennis Booth, Mrs. Robert Goebel, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Politis; Lantana, Mr. and Mrs. John Meekstroff; Lehigh, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Thomas; Mascot, Mrs. Curtis Hill; Palm Beach, Mrs. Jennette Hare; Palm Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mowry; Tallahassee, Mr. L. L. Tyson; West Palm Beach, Mrs. Ann Albert, Mrs. Linda C. Baroch, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown, Mrs. John M. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crossdale, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Dorsey, III, Mr. Jim Herrick, Mrs. Roberta Hunter, Mr. John Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith MacMillan, Miss Judy Oakley, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Paty, Mr. Bruce Paty, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Ribaichi, Mr. and Mrs. David Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Shireffs, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Siemon, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Sims, Mrs. Ruth A. Soukup, Mr. and Mrs. James E. plum colored two piece tailored suit with pin-striped blouse

Horn of Plenty

This great land of ours has been blessed with the riches of the earth and with the freedoms and rights to enjoy them. But does the mere ownership of these goods guarantee our happiness?

All of us have experienced a disappointment at finally possessing some much-desired article. After weeks and sometimes years of looking forward to it, we find that the actual ownership brings little pleasure.

Could the fault lie with the gift itself? No, apparently it is within ourselves. Our own attitudes, our own relationships, our own understanding have certainly much more to do with our final satisfaction.

How then are we to derive the greatest blessings from the goods which have been put at our disposal? The best place to begin is at your place of worship. Here, in a personal search for God and our own understanding of Him, we may achieve a spiritual harmony, which will bless our lives and those of our fellow men.

KEEPING THE FAITH

BY THE REV. JOE ED McGAHEY

Community United Methodist Church

Jesus said to him, "I am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life: no one comes to the Father, but through Me." John 14:6 NASB

Of all the things Jesus said during His earthly ministry, this was one of the most bold statements that He made about Himself. These words set Him apart from everyone else who has ever lived. They make Him the Center Piece of the human race. They make Him to be not only an avenue to God, but the only way to the heavenly Father.

"The Way, and the Truth, and the Life." The early Christian church recognized this truth, and took it very seriously. Because they took these words so seriously, they set out to tell the world about Jesus. They wanted everyone to know that he had come, what He had taught, what He had done and how they could know Him. Because this was true they came to have a new boldness.

Within a year after the resurrection of Jesus, Peter was arrested for healing a lame man in the Temple and then preaching about Jesus. When he was carried before the Jewish Council, he boldly proclaimed, "let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead-by this Name this man stands here before you in good health." Then Peter went on to say, "And there is Salvation in no one else; for there is no other name under heaven that has been given among men, by which we must be saved." (Acts 4:10-12)

Now as members of the human race, Jesus has come to visit us - this was and is the very Person of God Himself coming to share life with us. He came to tell us about God, to show us the reality of God, His love for us, His way for us, and to give us the gift of eternal life through Himself. Now that gift of eternal life is dependent upon our recognizing how the gift comes to us and accepting it.

But Jesus is the one who paid the price for that gift, by becoming sin for us and paying the price of sin on the Cross. Therefore, the price He paid was a price you and I could not pay and have life. Either we accept that gift from the Giver, or we do not have it.

It is man's arrogance, that makes him believe he ought to be able to have access to God on the basis of his own goodness. The only way we could do that would be to be perfect - without any kind of sin. However, God in His love has reached out to us through Jesus Christ, His very Son, to draw us unto Himself.

Therefore, when we go to God the Father, in the name of Jesus, we are going through the one who opened this door for us. We go accepting the authority of Jesus Christ, over our lives. We go recognizing our own need for Him in our lives. The New Testament makes it very clear that coming to God in the Name of Jesus opens doors that do not otherwise open.

Rev. Sammie Rush

Revival

OOKECHOBEE - The Rev. Sammie Rush, pastor of the United Baptist Church of Cleveland, Miss., will serve as the evangelist for a week of revival services, Oct. 27 through 31 at the Bethel Baptist Church of Okeechobee. Rev. Leon Camel, Jr., pastor. Services will begin nightly at 7:30 p.m.

Spiritual seminar scheduled

PAHOKEE - The Church of God in Pahokee invites all ladies of all churches to attend a spiritual, singing, and preaching seminar beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 25. A covered dish luncheon will follow the service. The ladies of all the Church of Gods on the Big Lake district will be displaying their bazaar items.

Harvest festival held

BELLE GLADE - St. Philip Benizi Catholic Church held its annual Harvest Festival Sunday, Oct. 19.

According to the festival board, approximately 150 persons enjoyed the many games and activities planned for the occasion.

The festival board also presented gifts to three lucky winners at the Harvest Festival.

Mrs. M. Solomongo received a handmade bedspread donated by Mrs. Louis Luffey.

Mrs. Carmen Fuxa won a 12 inch television and Miss. Cecilia Varona won the 19 inch color television.

Mrs. Mary Marlbona also won a tape recorder from the board.

Members of the St. Philip Festival board wishes to thank the many persons who donated their gifts to the success of the event.

Founded in 1565 by Pedro Menendes de Aviles, St. Augustine, Fla., is the oldest permanent settlement in the U.S.

Poachers are sophisticated

WEST PALM BEACH - Sportsmen often complain that some judges don't take violations of Florida's game laws seriously enough. But it's apparent at least some people take poaching seriously. Recently, Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission officers Dale Knapp and Stoney Lee arrested three men for illegally killing two buck deer in St. Lucie County and during the arrest seized backpacks full of meat, bone saws, butcher knives, a rifle and lights and alarmingly, a portable radio tuned to the Commission's frequency. This is the third such radio seized within the past 18 months, said Lt. Eddie Wheeler, and is evidence wildlife lawbreakers are anxious to keep tabs on officers. The individuals arrested by Knapp and Lee were apparently well equipped not only for illegal hunting activities, but also for butchering meat in the woods. All of the equipment was seized and the trio faces a fine of $1000 or a year in jail plus the confiscation of their equipment, if convicted. Wheeler noted that while credit for this arrest goes to Knapp and Lee, citizens can get involved in conserving the state's wildlife resources through the "Wildlife Alert" program. "If you see something suspicious in the woods," he said, you can call 1-800-432-2046 and report it and we'll dispatch an officer to check it out. You don't have to give your name and if an arrest is made based on information you give us, you're entitled to a reward. Less than half the population of America sees a dentist once a year or more.

Barnes attends conference in Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE - Mrs. Ethel Barnes, of 830 Padgett Circle, President of the Pahokey Housing Authority Tenant Organization, during the past three days participated in an eight state regional rural mini-conference on aging in this city. Mrs. Barnes took part in discussing and outlining issues with 126 other delegates from rural areas of the Southern Region. The delegates took a special look at the issues and problems affecting the rural elderly. Some of the problems discussed at the conference were nutrition, housing, transportation, adequate finances, energy, long-term health care assistance, and physical health problems. The conference delegates chose their number one concern as being that of nutrition, adequate financing to meet needs, problems with fuel, gas, electricity, availability of long-term health care, health problems, safe and comfortable living quarters, and the opportunity to move around rural areas.

MRS. ETHEL BARNES

Mrs. Barnes attended this one of six mini-conferences being conducted in the nation by Green Thumb, Inc., a national agency on aging, as a prelude of the 1981 White House Conference on Aging. To catch the ears of the pending White House Conference on Aging, the Rural mini-conference delegates voted approval of a large number of resolutions relative to those issues they cited as major concerns. They included the following:

Resolutions calling for additional food delivery services such as home-delivered meals including frozen, canned and shelf stable and (Continued on page 12)

Get the VOTE out on Nov. 4th

With the November 4 presidential, state, and county elections only two weeks away, many of us are still pondering whether to go to the polls or not.

The answer to both of those questions are yes...yes you need to go to the polls on Nov. 4...and yes your one vote will count.

Just four years ago, every Black vote Jimmy Carter got counted. He became the President of the United States, and Gerald Ford became just the candidate for the office of President.

Most of the springs of America would like you to believe other wise; that your vote didn't get Jimmy Carter to the White House. You know better, Jimmy Carter knows better, and the Republican party knows better too.

For the first time in years, the Republicans are wowing the Black vote.

Black political strategies can work in 1980 as it did in 1976.

The Cardiss Collins chairperson of the black congressional caucus said it all a few weeks ago when she said "Though we may no longer be politically fashionable, our vote is still critical."

Collins and Black Americans are aware of the ironies in American politics...to be black and a politician is to invest in a system that was not designed to serve our interests.

We also know its the only system in town - we either play or lose by default. Government, says Collins "permeates every aspect of our lives. Once you realize that, you also realize the necessity to participate in a system that it's dictating every step you take, every movement you make up or down the ladder."

Though advocating...play the game and vote, Collins, Coretta Scott King, Andy Young, Jesse Jackson, Vernon Jordan, all are realist to know we have little to encourage this particular election year. Regardless of who gets into the White House, Blacks are in for a season of suffering.

The choices for president represent difference without much of a distinction. Under Jimmy Carter's Administration, we can expect more of the same: Black unemployment, perpetual inflation, cuts in social programs, an so on.

Under Ronald Reagan, the challenger to the White House we can expect, a few new horrors: appointments to the Supreme Court that could wipe out every piece of civil rights legislation passed during the past 25 years; a general mood of conservatism...

Collins says that the only weapon we have against our season of suffering is the VOTE. We presently have more reasons to be disenchanted, but that's also why we have more of a reason to get out and vote and express our frustrations in a meaningful way. If you can't say come out and vote for this person, then you must think of it as coming out and voting for yourself.

M. Athaliah Range of Miami, said it's even more clearly this weekend in Ft. Lauderdale when Blacks in the Media, politics, and education got together to talk shop talk.

"Blacks in America have more at stake in local elections this year, than we have in the national elections," Range said.

"Numerous candidates are up for re-election that fail to meet our needs or take our interest at heart that would like to be re-elected again.

We cannot replace them with all new faces, but we can let them know we are not satisfied with their services," she

How I See It
by Alma Henry

said. By staying home this election the only signals we will be sending out is one that says we are satisfied with what we get, or we feel that is nothing to gain by voting.

Voting does make a difference...

We have elected more than 4,000 Black political officials, there are 137 Black mayors running American cities, there are 17 Black congress people, a Black Supreme Court Justice, a Black Secretary of the Army, and 40 million Black Americans.

Those figures has come to mean leverage. Those figures has come to mean power. We are powerful. Your vote counts. Make it count, get out and vote for the candidate or candidates of your choice on November 4th.

Coco-Cola sponsors Cash Caps Plus contest

PAHOKEE - Local residents from Belle Glade to Indiantown have taken advantage of the instant cash jackpot offered by the Fahokey Coca-Cola Bottling Company inconjunction with the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Miami.

Local residents have won t-shirts and monetary prizes by spelling the word Coca-Cola with Cash Caps Plus.

The contest underway since August offers from twenty-five cents to one hundred dollars to the lucky winners who peel back the plastic cap liner of the Cash Cap Plus and find monetary stamps inside the caps.

Ulysee Buddy Studstill, plant manager of the Fahokey plant said all anyone needs do is collect the letters or the monetary stamps in the caps and redeem the caps at the Fahokey office, 246 East Main St., Monday through Friday from 8 to 5 p.m.

Studstill said the contest offer expires Dec. 31, and the cash caps are available free at participating stores in the Glades.

The caps are also available on 6 1/2, 10 and 16 oz., returnable coke bottles.

"There's a lot of potential here. We've got the backing and the talent. All's we need is a little more time."

A lack of interest by some band members however seems to be hurting the program.

"Some of these kids just don't want to come to practice after school. That's why this band isn't going to win any contests or go anywhere this year. The kids have got to want to make it. I can only push them so far."

The students who do regularly show up are determined though.

The routines begin with the band walking through the first phase of the program without instruments. Then students are marched through, and then, marched through again with instruments, and yes again, marched through while playing some light-hearted tune for their listening pleasure. And each phase of the routine is practiced time after time until students, struggling with tubas, baritones and bass drums, dread the imminent "Awright go back and do it again!"

By the time break arrives students are hobbling around on trombone crutches and sitting on drum stools. But the band members rarely complain about "working conditions" and many continue to practice through rest periods.

Watson said he believes hard work is the key to a successful band program. If he can get the students to practice what he preaches there is no doubt Watson and the GDS band will make beautiful music together.

churches. Transporting of the elderly to and from church was a high priority item in this resolution.

In concern for long-term care, delegates voted to recommend that free clinics and medication for indigent rural persons be provided as well as locating more and better housing with federal funding for in-home and home health care for ancillary aids and that they be financed by Medicare. Mrs. Barnes received a certificate for her participation in the conference.
